

ABSTRACT

By desorption processing of a flat panel display in a vacuum before hermetic sealing, it is possible to reduce operational outgassing. The first embodiment involves plasma scrubbing, the second embodiment involves electron irradiation pre-aging, and the third 5 embodiment involves electron irradiation pre-aging of the faceplate in an evacuation process.